

Hen and Stag Celebration Ideas

Until relatively recently, the stag night represented a rite of passage for grooms, testing their resolve to get married (and their ability to consume large quantities of alcohol without getting arrested or waking up on their wedding day to find themselves 600 miles away from home!).

The hen night on the other hand was more generally a rather dull affair with girlfriends getting together to exchange recipes, knitting patterns and try out new shades of nail-varnish. After all, what was the point of risking a girl's reputation by having a wild night out on the town when she had so nearly reached the pinnacle of her life's ambition having found a man to marry her?!

Thankfully, both occasions have evolved somewhat in recent years and many stags and hens look for alternative ideas to celebrate their remaining days of bachelorhood.

At Weddings Co-ordinated we have loads of ideas and contacts. Whatever way you choose to celebrate your final hours of singledom, we can help you to put together the perfect itinerary and organise the transport, accommodation and, of course the essential hen and stag party-wear!

Here are a few ideas:

- ♥ A weekend in a Health Spa with beauty treatments and relaxation therapies
- ♥ A day/weekend of outdoor activity (eg sailing, motor-sports, clay shooting, paintball, rally driving etc)
- ♥ A pink chauffeur driven limo / hummer / tank / fire-engine to transport you in style to hot local night-spots of your choice
- ♥ A Mediaeval Banquet or a foodie / chocoholic or wine-tasting weekend
- ♥ West End Theatre experience with dinner and night in a London hotel
- ♥ Survival Weekend (after all if you can cope for a weekend up a Welsh mountain with no tent, food or alcohol, marriage will be a doddle!)
- ♥ Learn how to pole dance, salsa or tango
- ♥ Hair and/or makeup makeover followed by professional fashion photo-shoot
- ♥ Murder mystery weekend
- ♥ Evening out on a party bus – travelling between top nightspots and partying all the way!
- ♥ Theme Park Weekend – from Alton Towers to Euro-Disney
- ♥ Attend Cocktail School and learn how to be an ace bartender
- ♥ Learn how to drive a tank and crush a family saloon!
